The seventh and eighth grades of Carson street school tendered a farewell party on Friday to the graduating class. Room six was beautifully decorated employing the class colors, blue and gold. The class gift to the school, a beautiful picture, one of Corot's, was unwrapped by the girls and hung by the boys in the class in Mrs. Ritter's room. The teachers of this class were Mrs. Blanche Ritter, also principal of the school, and Mrs. Talitha Carleton. Miss Ruth Ellis has substituted during the past few weeks owing to the absence of Mrs. Carleton who has been quite ill. She was missed by the graduates particularly on this day of days. It was a merry group that gathered around the table in Mrs. Ritter's room which was adorned with attractive favors made by Miss Ellis, and partook of the dainty luncheon coming as a complete surprise to the graduates, which was prepared by the girls of the cooking classes under the direction of Miss Crimmins, cooking teacher, consisting of fruit salad, sandwiches, ice cream and cake. It was regretted that Mary Nidever, one of the graduates, was unable to attend this farewell party owing to illness. She has the distinction of being the first graduate from this school who all entered the first grade here shortly after this school was established. Mrs. Ritter addressed the class informally and presented the certificates of promotion to the following: Lucy K. Pruett, Lorena Anna Cunningham, Mary Elizabeth Nidever, John Paul DiMassa, Joe Lupo, and Dominic Giacomi. Penmanship certificates were also given at this time to the following: Lorena Cunningham, Joe Lupo, and Dominic Giacomi of the graduating class and Wanda Lindsey, A7, Rora Lindsey, B7, Laura Gianera, B5, Chiyeko Matsuoka, B7, Genevieve DiMassa, A7, Pauline Falla, B5, Sophie Falla, B5, Margaret Butts, B5, and Sophie Grausso, B5.

Said Mr. Schultz yesterday, "The car exceeds even our expectations. Its riding qualities, the power of the motor, its ease of driving, its complete refinements have met with spontaneous enthusiasm on all sides. Everyone who has ridden in the car is high in praise of the new Ford. The car really sells itself." Mr. Schultz announced that Schultz, Peckham and Schultz will start making deliveries this week.
